

Welcome

2010 LULAC National Convention

Albuquerque, New Mexico is the capital of hot-air ballooning and the most popular recreational activity in the southwest. Your organizers have made arrangements for you to enjoy the experience of a lifetime, at a discount!

Our flight crew will pick you up from your hotel just before sunrise and take you to the launch site. You may watch, take pictures or assist in bringing these colorful giants to life. Gently you will soar through the heavens for about an hour and your pilot will show local points of interest, share balloon history and their unique enthusiasts' perspective. Once you land, the gear will be loaded and the flight team will provide a light continental breakfast with assorted pastries and juices.

Raise your glass with the pilot to share the traditional balloonist champagne toast; receive a commemorative flight pin and certificate to mark the occasion.

Most often, we will have you back at the hotel before your meeting begins. We trust, with lifted spirits and fond memories—ones we hope you carry for a lifetime.
